NOTES

1. The Log Book comprising 3-monthly Log Sheets is to enable a candidate to record his practical training in chronological order and to analyse the core competences he has acquired. It provides an easy reference to any particular aspect of training. This is to enable the Counsellor to evaluate the adequacy and proper balance of the candidate's training.
2. The Log Book should be kept in safe custody. It is important to note that if the Log Book is lost, the failure to produce an analysis of the candidate's training may prejudice the subsequent assessment.
3. Entries in Log Sheets must be clear and concise on a weekly basis and the analyses and totals expressed in whole days or half-days under the relevant core competences.
4. A new Log Book should be used for every training period of 9 months. Upon completion of the relevant training period, the Log Book should be presented to the Counsellor together with the Self Assessment Report for the relevant period. On presentation, the total time spent on each core competence should be summarized.
5. In case the submission of the Self Assessment Report is delayed, any extended training before the submission should also be included in the same Log Book.
6. The Log Book should not be attached when the vetted Self Assessment Report is submitted to the Institute.
